Word from Theresa

Like most children, I enjoyed Christmas and the holiday time of year when I was young. I admit that a big reason was presents. My mom always went overboard at Christmas. We never had much money, but somehow she made sure we had gifts. I remember one summer when I had outgrown my shoes, but we didn't have the money for new ones. My mom cut off the top of the toe portion of my red sneakers. I thought I was cool - the only kid in my neighborhood with sandal tennies. I have no memories of a small Christmas. When I was older, she told me she would spend January through October paying off credit card charges for one Christmas, just to start the process over again.

Looking back, I'm sure my mom was giving us a gift bigger than the presents under the tree. She was giving us stability and security. I probably haven't thanked her enough for that gift.

I hope you have a holiday season with stability, security, happiness, and joy.
